Within a Few Days the Facts Will Be Laid Before the Mayor-Inspector Cross and Capt. Herlihy Involved-The Insuit to Mr. Paddock and the Incident That Led to It. The action of the Diocesan Convention of the Episcopal Church on Thursday in requesting Bishop Potter to investigate the indignities alleged to have been offered to the clergy of the Pro-Cathedral by certain of the police auhorities, marks a departure of that Church from the conservative attitude which it has hitherto maintained toward matters involving parture will be watched with widespread interest. That it will have serious consequences for those against whom this action has been directed, those behind it had no hesitancy in asserting yesterday, and it was made very plain that the whole power of the Church is to be brought to bear through the agency of the Bishop in the investigation which will be in-What might have been considered as only a parish incident has taken a more serious aspect, it appears' from the fact that the Bishop considers the insult alleged to have been offered the clergy of the Pro-Cathedral by the police authorities as directed against him. The reason for this is the relation which the Pro-Cathedral's clergy bear to the Bishop. They are the Bishop's representatives in performing the work of that parish. They bear, therefore, a closer relation to him than does the ordinary rector of a parish, and it is this relationship which has given, in the opinion of the rest of the diocese, such a serious character to the incident alleged to have occurred. The serious light in which the matter is regarded is shown by the fact that Bishop Potter intends to ignore the Police Board and present a memorial to the Mayor as the head of the city government, which will rehearse the facts in such a way that he cannot but take full cognizance of them and order the fullest inquiry into them. The police authorities, it was very evident yesterday, had been taken by surprise by this action of the Church, which is regarded as being the most conservative of the different denominain New York. It will be remembered that in such matters as vice crusades the Church has taken no part, although it should not be inferred that the alleged offences have been condoned. The workers of the Pro-Cathedral in Stanton street have come in contact with a good deal of the vice allowed to exist. Bishop Potter has always taken a personal interest in this work for the reason, as has been stated, that the Pro-Cathedral is his church until the Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Morningside Heights is completed. It has been his desire that this work in a district where vice

The distoms inspector who has been suspended for having passed the trunks of Mrs. Shanahan and Mrs. Hall, dressmakers, which were seized later, is said to have declared to Surveyor Croft that he has no recollection of having passed the trunks. He admits that they bore his mark, but he thinks that some unauthorized person surreptitiously placed this mark upon them. WOMEN CALL ON M'KINLEY.

Delegation of About One Hundred Invades the Laws-Each Gets a Greeting. CANTON, Ohio, Sept. 28.—The chief incident f the day at the McKinley home was the invasion of the lawn by a delegation of a hundred or more people. Except one man, who acted as guide for the party, the visitors were women-They are holding a convention here as delegates of the Daughters of Rebekah, an auxiliary of the Odd Fellows, and come from all the towns roundabout here. They gave no advance notice of their intended call and the President was taking a little sleep when they arrived. The man at the door would not awaken him, but told the women he was likely to be up in fifteen minutes and they might return in that

They did, and the President was up and ready to receive them. In fact he waiked half way down the flagging to meet them. The first woman was an old acquaintance and was greeted as such. The next said she was glad to see him and hoped he would be reelected. The President thanked her and gave his hand to the next, who expressed some kind wish. And so the whole crowd filed past, each one receiving a pieasant word and each one feeling amply repaid for the effort of walking up the hill. Just outside the gate the women lined up to give the President the Chautauqua salute in a most hearty and enthusiastic manner, which he returned with a wave of his hat and many bows. The President also did a little farm talking to-day. It was with the man in charge of his farm near Minerva who came up to see him. The Hon-Irvine B. Dudley of California, United States Minister to Peru, reached here from the East to-day, went direct from the train to the McKinley home, had an hour's conference and hurried back to the station to catcha Cleveland train. So far as can be learned, there was not the least significance in the as such. The next said she was glad to see was not the least significance in the being merely the duty to call prescribed by diplomatic courtesy.

The President is showing no disposition to throw his personality into the campaign to a greater extent than he has been doing. There are not as many conferences being held here as the wise ones predicted; there is no likelihood of delegations and no outward evidence that any campaign work is being directed from Canton.

BLOCKED STREET CAR TRAFFIC,

But Judge Werner, the Hon. John Van Voorhis and W. F. Cogswell Caught Their Train.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 28.-Judge Werner of the Court of Appeals, the Hon. John Van Voorhis and the Hon. William F. Cogswell blocked street car traffic at the Four Corners this afternoon in their endeavors to catch a New York Central flyer for the East. They had to catch a St. Paul street car in order to arrive at the station in time, and spying the car in the disstation in time, and spying the car in the distance they started toward it frantically. Judge Werner is the youngest of the three, Mr. Van Voorhis and Mr. Cogswell being far advanced in years. The car was passing swiftly up the street, while several policemen and pedestrians were shouting in vain for the conductor to stop. But Judge Werner knew a better trick than any of them, one he learned when a boy. Running into the middle of the street Judge Werner put his fingers to his mouth and gave two loud and shrill whistles. The conductor in the distance heard the signal and, seeing the Judge waving his arms, rang the car to a standstill. It took the distinguished gentlemen some time to reach their car, and in the meantime the other cars were lined up at the Four Corners waiting for the one in front to get under way.

The whole party sot to the train in time, but

THE OPEN GOLF EVENT.

ENTRIES FOR THE ANNUAL CHAM-PIONSHIP AT THE CHICAGO CLUB. The Field the Strongest in Quality That Has

Ever Been Nominated-Vardon and Taylor Correspondence-Match Play Rounds in the New Jersey State Tournament. Secretary Kerr of the U. S. G. A. gave ou resterday the long-anticipated list of entries for the open championship, to be held on Oct. 4 and 5, at the Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton The total is sixty-three, nine less than last year. There were gleven amateurs in 1899, against nine this year, all except one being identified with the clubs about Chicago The Eastern entry of professionals is light, but it is a thoroughly representative one. The greatest names on the list are those of J. H. Taylor, open champion of Great Britain, and Harry Vardon, whom he beat for the title at St. Andrews, Scotland, last June. It will be their first meeting since that memorable contest. It is the first time that the holder or former open champion of Great Britain has ever entered for the American event.

In the field, among the resident professionals. the Western contingent includes Will Smith, last year's winner; James Foulis, the open champion of 1896; Fred Herd, the open champion of 1898; David Bell, Laurence Auchterlonie, W. H. Way and Will Anderson. The Eastern entrants among others number George Low, Val Fitz John, Jack Park, Willie Norton, Harry Gullane, R. McAndrew, Dave Hunter, Horace T. Rawlins, open champion of 1895. Stewart Gardner, Tom Hutchinson, A. Ricketts, Stewart Gardner, Tom Hutchinson, A. Ricketts, John Reid, Harry Rawlins and Alec Campbell, the pick of the New York, Philadelphia and Boston links. Two of the entries are players who have learned the game here, John Shippen, Jr., not so long since a caddy at Shinnecock Hills, and A. C. Tallifson, a Westerner.

The conditions will be the same as here and in Great Britain, seventy-two holes, medal play. The prize money will be $800, including a fifty-dollar gold medal, and the first eight men get a share. At Baitimore last year Will Smith won with 315. There was a tie for the next three places between George Low, Val Fitz John and W. H. Way, at 326. Will Anderson was fifth, with 327; Jack Park sixth, with 328, and Peter Walker and L. Auchterlonie tied for the last two places with 333. The official list did not give the clubs from which the players entered. The names of the professionals and their home clubs, so far as could be learned, follow:

Two up at the fifteenth after vigorous play. Tying had a close shave in his match with Watson, Jr., in the semi-finals, for the latter then won two straight. Facing the home hole all square, a slight pull brought Walson, Jr., just out of the narrow line of play, and he had to drop a ball and play again, this time a slice getting the ball into rough stuff. The seventy-three who finished in the qualify—

The seventy-three who finished in the qualify-

To The Edition Vardon's representative:

To The Edition Of The Sun—Sir: In answer to Mr. George S. Coxe's letter which appeared in your issue of yesterday, I should like, while refusing to accept Mr. J. H. Taylor's offer to play a match for the benefit of the Galveston Fund on Tuesday, Oct. 9, to give my reasons for doing so.

In the first place, Harry Vardon since he came to this country has invariably played a practice game on the day before he plays his match, and this is as much a part of the agreement with the club as the match itself. Vardon was engaged by the Scranton club to play on Oct. 8 and 9 as far back as last June, and his agreement with them will most assuredly be kept as religiously as every other engagement made by him has been kept in this country.

Secondly—Ever since Taylor's arrival in this country, on Aug. 11. I have endeavored in every conceivable manner to arrange for matches between the two men. Golf clubs in the United States have offered no less than $9,500 in prizes and I have accepted in every instance on Vardon's behalf all the offers that have been made. Taylor's managers have seen in to refuse to meet Vardon on every occasion. They now come out with an offer, presumably in order to square themselves with the American golfing public for having heretofore refused all propositions, and suggest a match with Vardon at a time when he is engaged at Scranton, as they must know from the fact that their own magazine, Golf, has published it. They also add that it must be played on the 8th or 9th because Taylor returns to England on the 10th, never to return.

because Taylor than to return.

That this is done simply and solely on the part of Taylor's managers in order that, now that their contract with Taylor is cancelled, they, themselves, may not appear before the American golding public in the unfavorable light which they undoubtedly do now, is palpable to any one who has watched the correspondence between Vardon and Taylor in the daily newspapers.

on Oct. 10 in order to attend a meeting of the Mustry Club.

If Mr. Taylor will return to the United States on obefore Nov. 20, 1900, and will agree to play Harry Vardon a series of seven matches, Vardon will be perfectly willing to pay all his expenses to and from America and all his expenses while in America; the winner to take the whole of every purse which is offered for a meeting between the two men.

With sincere apologies to the American golfing public for the golf treat which they have missed and my heartiest sympathy for Taylor, who through no fault of his own has been placed in such a trying position, owing to his managers. I remain, yours truly, New York, Sept. 28, 1900. CHARLES S. COX.

In a personal letter to George S. Coxe yester-

NEW YORK, Sept. 28, 1900. CHARLES S. COX. 1 na personal letter to George S. Coxe yesterday C. S. Cox brought out the fact that in view of his engagement at the Scranton Country Club, which will hold its third annual open tournament on Oct. 10 to 13, inclusive, it was not in Vardon's power to make the match. To that letter the following reply was received:

not in Vardon's power to make the match. To that letter the following reply was received:

Charles S. Cor. Esq., Manager of Harry Vardon, A. G. Spalding & Co., City:

DRAR Sir: In reply to your favor of Sept. 27 I beg to say that I was under the misapprehension that Vardon's date for playing at Scranton was Oct. 10, instead of Oct. 9. I find, however, upon examining the list of dates prepared by you that he has no engagement for Monday, Oct. 8. Hoth players, therefore, would have ample time to return from Chleago and play on that day without preventing Vardon from keeping his engagement at Scranton on Oct. 9. Mr. Taylor will meet Mr. Vardon on that day life to you and him. I repret that you feel the necessity of insisting that the entire pures should got to the winner instead of to the Galveston Relief Fund. Nevertheless, this amendment to the proposed arrangement is accepted with the understanding, in order that the fund may be as large as possible, that, in the event of Mr. Taylor winning, the entire sum will be turned over to the Galveston Fund.

In response to your verbal objection, that it is Vardon's custom to play practice games on the day before an exhibition match, and that you do not wish to deprive the members of the Scranton Club of witnessing such practice, I beg to suggest that this obstacle does not seem insuperable. Vardon, having no engagement between the sith and 13th, could play at Scranton on the 9th and 10th instead of on the 8th and 13th, without inconveniencing himself, and doubtless to the equal satisfaction of the members of the cith.

Appreciating the strong desire expressed in you letter of bringing about this meeting, I trust that you will recognize that the above suggestions clear away all obstacles, and I have no doubt that you will gladly cooperate in bringing about the desired result for the gratification of American golfers before Mr. Taylor returns permanently to England on Oct. 10.

GEN. MILES SAYS IT IS THE VERY SOUL OF AN EFFICIENT FORCE. General Order in Which He Says the Na-tional Holidays Will Be Ce'ebrated With Such Ceremonies as Will Tene to Promote

Respect and Reverence for Our Lastitutions WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Lieut,-Gan. Miles -day issued a general order which he has ad in preparation for some time. It is intended to improve the discipline and the gen eral conduct of the soldiers of the army. appeals to their patriotism, reminds them that each soldier represents a thousand of its fellow citizens, and prescribes certain observ-ances for national holidays to keep alive love of the flag and the Constitution. The order

"The absolute and unqualified devotion of hose in the military service to the welfare of their country is an indispensable requisite and constitutes the very soul of an efficient army Hence, patriotism will be inculcated and promoted in every possible way, and all person in the military service will be expected and required to be informed, as far as possible, of the principles upon which our Government founded, of the advantages and benefits enoyed under the Constitution, and the responsibilities which it imposes upon them, as well as of the beneficent achievements which constitute our military history. "The national holidays will be celebrated with appropriate ceremonies, including the reading of the Declaration of Independence, Washington's Farewell Address, or the Constitution of the United States, and such other exercises as will tend to promote respect and reverence for the institutions of our country. "As the flag is the symbol of our nationality it will be held in sacred regard and every care and protection given it at all times. The cere mony of "Escort of the Colors" should be so conducted as to render it one of the most im pressive to the soldier, especially to the young recruit, of all the functions in which he is required to participate. Proper salutes will be bserved by all persons in the military service quired to participate. Proper salutes will be observed by all persons in the military service, not under arms, during the raising and lowering of the national emblem.

"Good martial music contributes immeasurably to the contentment and welfare of troops and inspires in them a valiant and patriotic spirit, which is most essential; hence, it will be encouraged, especially vocal music, which will include the singing of the national anthems and patriotic hymns and songs. The playing of a national or patriotic air as a part of a medley is prohibited

"The vital importance of discipline must be fully understood by and impressed upon all in the military service. It is indispensable, cannot be lightly regarded, and must be maintained under all circumstances. Lax discipline destroys efficiency and produces demoralization in all branches of the service, and every act or influence that tends to produce it must be discouraged and prohibited.

"Drills and military exercises, including calisthenics, will be made, as far as practicaoie, interesting, progressive and varied, and so instructive that the commands will fully comprehend the objects to be accomplished. Drills and manueuvres should be, as far as practicable, illustrative and simultatory of the circumstances and rapidly changing conditions of actual battle manueuvres.

"Where practicable the three arms of the service will be assembled for instruction in the manueuvres incident to the preliminary conditions of battle, in the use of three arms of the service in action, and in the proper disposition of the same following an engagement.

"Military exercises should include frequent marches, occasionally of several consecutive days, during which all the conditions of marching in an enemy's country would be observed and all important facts, such as the distance passed over, time occupied, the effect upon the troops, the serviceability of clothing equipment, transportation, tentage, ammunition, &c., will be carefully noted and reported to superior authority.

CAPT. MONCRIFFE'S UNPAID CHECK. It Is for $200 and Represents a Board Bill at Newport-He's a British Army Officer.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 28.—The proprietor of the Berkeley apartment house is looking for Capt. R. Moneriffe of the English army, who has left town leaving behind a check for $200, has left town leaving behind a check for $200, which the boarding-house keeper cannot get the bank to cash. There are no funds to pay it. Capt. Moncriffe, it is said, served with Lord Roberts in the Transvaal and came to this country and to Newport for recuperation, the war having made a wreck of him. He is highly connected in England, it is said, and while at Newport was entertained by the leading cottagers. Before leaving Newport he gave the check for $200, saying that he was going away, but would come back, and would leave the check as security, but that there would not be money to meet the check for some days. He has now been gone nine days. The whereabouts of Capt. Moncriffe is not known.

COUNT FESTETICS'S DEFENCE. He Denies the Charge of Cruelty Made in His Wife's Divorce Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 .- Count Rudolph Festetics de Tolna, who is back in his Austrian home after years of South Sea wanderings, will oppose the divorce suit of his wife, who is now with her father, Lewis D. Haggin, in New York. The Countess accuses her busband of desertion, failure to provide and cruelty. She alleges that the Count insisted upon cruising around the South Seas in a yacht which did not afford the common necessaries of life, and hence to keep her health she was forced to leave him. It is understood that the Count denies the charge of cruelty and declares that her other charges do not constitute ground for action.

Ignacio Martinetti Married.

Ignacio Martinetti, the dialect comedian and dancer now appearing in "A Million Dollars" The report that the New York Life Insurance | at the New York Theatre, was married last Company has had positive information that Saturday to Mrs. Carrie Radeliffe-Ferris, the Company has had positive information that Germany will at once declare war on China is utterly false. It was said that because of the impending war the insurance company had been insuring a large number of German army officers. This, too, is false. W. F. Buckley, the Second Vice-President of the company, said yesterday:

"There is no truth in the statement that we are insuring a large number of German officers—nor any number, for that matter. The story is a fake and made up by persons who don't know what they're talking about."

Saturday to Mrs. Carrie Radcliffe-Ferris, the divorced wife of John Ferris, Jr. Mrs. Martinetti has been for the past three seasons the leading actress of the Forepaugh stock company in Philadelphia.
